Led by five chart-busting hit singles – "What Have You Done for Me Lately," "Nasty," "Control," "When I Think Of You," –with their complementary, tightly choreographed music videos – and "Let's Wait Awhile," Control became Jackson's first No. 1 Pop album. The album also made Billboard chart history for having the longest continuous run on the Hot 100 with singles from one album, ultimately tallying a remarkable 65 consecutive weeks from that perch. To date, Control has sold more than 10 million copies worldwide. It was also the #1 trending hashtag on Twitter on January 28th, 2022.

As a testament to Janet Jackson's legacy, her album Control rose to #1 on the iTunes US pop chart following the premiere of the doc. Janet Jackson also debuted the new song Luv I Luv, at the conclusion of the documentary. "Janet Jackson: Family First" will chronicle the legendary singer, songwriter, producer, author, actor, philanthropist, and global icon as she embarks on her 2023 "Together Again" tour, and her collaboration with brother Randy Jackson to reunite the family band after 40 years since their last performance.
